Helen L. Greathouse Children's Center Celebrates 25 Years

HAPPY Birthday!

In 1987, 2-year-old Kimberly Kincaid was already enrolled in Midland College (MC)! Today, the 26-year-old is still taking classes at MC, working on her bachelor's degree in organizational management. Her professors know her as a poised and confident young woman who is the Administrative Assistant to the Vice President of Patient Care Services at Midland Memorial Hospital (MMH). However, long before she began her college studies at MC and her career at MMH, Kincaid attended MC's Helen L. Greathouse Children's Center (HLGCC). Twenty-four years later, Kincaid's 5-year-old daughter, Abbygail (Abby) Narlock, is following in her mother's footsteps.

When Kincaid was investigating local daycare centers and preschools for Abby, she says that none really compared to the HLGCC. She explains, "Everything [in the Center] has a purpose. The environment is phenomenal. Meals and snacks are nutritionally balanced. It really is evidenced-based childcare!" Kincaid was also happy to find that Rita Stotts is still the director of the HLGCC. Stotts was the director when Kincaid was there, and Kincaid says, "She still remembered me!"

Rita Stotts remembers all the children who have gone through the doors of the HLGCC. In the hallway of the Center are bulletin boards with pictures of children who have attended the HLGCC during the past 25 years. Stotts proudly points to each picture recalling stories about the children, many of whom still keep in touch with "Miss Rita."

In March 2009, the HLGCC expanded and opened a new 8,000-square-foot facility. Today, the Center has 85 children, ranging in age from 4 months to 5 years. In addition to Stotts and Assistant Director Tanya Primera, the HLGCC employs 12 teachers, 5 assistant teachers, and 5 part-time college students. It is open Monday through Friday from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Abbygail Narlock will be leaving the HLGCC in August to attend kindergarten. Her mother says, "I'm really sad that this is Abby's last year. I won't have an excuse to visit the Center. But perhaps I can go back when the Center celebrates its 50th anniversary, and my grandchild will be there!"

Science at Midland College

DNA-mazing!

Dr. Paul Mangum, MC Biology Professor, wants to share his intense interest in DNA with those of all ages. His love of genetics and his dedication to teaching and learning are definitely paying off for those who are fortunate enough to study under his tutelage. Thanks to state-of-the-art genomics equipment in MC's genetics lab, MC students and others in the community are able to conduct highly sophisticated research projects. The equipment was funded by matching grants from the Midland College Foundation through the Chaparral Circle Endowment Fund and Li-Cor Biosciences.

Dr. Paul Mangum (left)
and Ivan Grimmatt

MC student Ivan Grimmatt was able to use the equipment as part of an international research project. Grimmatt - supervised by Mangum - isolated DNA in aquatic hyphomycetes (freshwater fungi) from Portugal and France. He amplified and sequenced this DNA and developed a phylogenetic tree to show the relationship among species of hyphomycetes. Mr. Grimmatt explains, "These fungi are important to the ecosystem because they break down leaves that provide a carbon source for aquatic invertebrates. The invertebrates, in turn, are a food source for fish." Because of Grimmatt's research work at Midland College, he has been accepted into Mount Allison University in Sackville, New Brunswick, Canada, where he will major in Biology.

Megan Dutton, an eighth-grade student at Walker Junior High School in Monahans has also benefitted from the genomics equipment. Every Thursday afternoon during the summer of 2010, Dutton worked with Dr. Mangum to try to amplify, extend and locate a crossover gene in Megan's family DNA segment. Under the guidance of Dr. Mangum, Dutton researched the TAS2R38 gene and became very proficient with all the tools needed for lab protocols during her work in the facilities provided by Midland College. Her search for the elusive crossover gene was never uncovered, but she gained knowledge and confidence while working with Dr. Mangum and the DNA team. In fact, Dutton recently won first place in The University of Texas of the Permian Basin (UTPB) Science Fair and placed sixth place in the State Science Fair competition in San Antonio on April 2.

When asked about her time spent at Midland College, Megan stated, "I love working with Dr. Mangum. He teaches me so much and makes it fun. Because of him, I've found a love for genetics and the possibility of several science fair projects . . . I love working at Midland College and hope I can continue doing that. I'm even thinking about starting my college studies at Midland College when I graduate from high school. Thank you Dr. Mangum, DNA team and Midland College for everything you've done for me."

Science students receive scholarships

MC President Dr. Steve Thomas
with Wolfe Scholarship recipient
Kwayu "Pete" Abraham

"It's not always easy to go to school and take care of responsibilities," stated MC President Dr. Steve Thomas at the April 13 Science and Math Scholarship Awards luncheon. However, thanks to the generosity of Midland-area donors, MC is able to award various scholarships to outstanding science students in order to help with some of those "responsibilities." Five biology students were presented $500 each by Deborah and Cynthia Wolfe. The Wolfe Scholarship was established in memory of their parents, Norma and Joseph Wolfe. MC chemistry students William Kurtz and Rebecca Martin were each awarded $200 through the Richardson Scholarship, and 19 students were awarded with the Barbara Magruder Veterinary Technology Scholarship.

Science students at MC have access to the latest technology in science curriculum. The 45,364 square-foot Leona G. and John E. Fox Science Building contains biology, chemistry and specialty scientific labs, such as microbiology and anatomy and physiology. Midland College offers Associate of Science degrees in math and science with core courses transferable to four-year colleges and universities. In addition to the transferable Associate of Science degrees in Biology, Chemistry, Geology, Math and Physics, Midland College also offers a new Associate of Applied Science degree in Chemical Technology with an emphasis toward chemical purification processes and analyses.

MC Foundation Board members receive honors at alma maters

MC Foundation Board members Jack E. Brown and Clarence Scharbauer III recently have been honored at their respective university alma maters.

On April 28, Jack Brown received the Sterling C. Evans Medal as outstanding Texas A&M University philanthropist. Brown '46 is the 11th recipient of the Texas A&M Foundation's Evans Medal. His A&M degrees in petroleum and mechanical engineering led to his success with Midland-based Wagner & Brown, an independent oil and gas operation.

Mr. Brown has served as geographic chairman and board director for A&M's Private Enterprise Research Center and has served on industry advisory councils for the Dwight Look College of Engineering. He is a member of the Corps of Cadets Hall of Honor and is an Outstanding Alumnus of the engineering college. The chemical engineering building at A&M bears his name.

Brown joined the Midland College Foundation Board in 1987. The Jack E. Brown Dining Hall is one of the many contributions from Brown and his wife Frances. At the dedication of the dining hall in September 2001, Brown stated, "This facility is a symbol of Midland, and I love Midland!"

Jack E. Brown

Clarence Scharbauer III, Texas Christian University (TCU) Class of 1973, recently was appointed chairman of the TCU Board of Trustees. Scharbauer is chairman of the board of SBC Corporation, a Midland real estate development firm, and is trustee and past president of the Abell-Hanger Foundation.

At TCU, Scharbauer has served on the Committee of 100 and was honored as Valuable Alumnus in 1998. Additionally, he serves on the Executive Committee of The Campaign for TCU, is a member of the Chancellor's Council, a Founder of the Addison & Randolph Clark Society and a benefactor of The TCU Frog Club. TCU's Scharbauer Hall was named for Scharbauer and his wife Kerry.

Mr. Scharbauer is a past president of the MC Foundation Board and has been a member since 1978. The MC Scharbauer Student Center is named in honor of his parents, Dorothy and Clarence Scharbauer, Jr. The Scharbauer influence in Midland dates to the late 1800s, and much in Midland and at Midland College are associated with the family's community-building spirit.

Singin' the Blues

Nestled in the heart of downtown Midland, Tall City Blues Fest, a multiday music festival, has partnered with Midland College to offer educational workshops and seminars as part of the July 29-31 weekend festival's offerings. Pre-registration for festival workshops will be offered through Midland College's Community Programs Continuing Education, and all proceeds from workshop enrollment will benefit MC Community Programs.

"Community programs are the 'fun' classes in the Continuing Education catalog, and partnering with Tall City Blues Fest has provided an offering of classes that we wouldn't otherwise have been able to offer," said Brenda Cordero, Associate Director of Community Programs Continuing Education at MC.

Additionally, Tall City Blues Fest will donate 10 percent of its advance and at-the-gate Weekend Festival Pass purchases to Midland College Kids' College to be earmarked for scholarships.

Workshop offerings include, but are not limited to, the following:

- How to Jam the Blues - Acoustics Instruments taught by Bernie Pearl and accompanied by Mike Barry, bass guitarist
- Blues Guitar 101: I, IV, V taught by Anthony Stauffer, blues guitar teacher and creator of steviesnacks.com
- GarageBand: Your Own Recording Studio presented by Best Buy and taught by Matt Santiago, musician and sales consultant for Apple Computer, Inc.
- Harmonica 101: Outside the Box presented by Hohner and taught by Woody Russell, touring and recording artist, and Jose Ruiz, harmonica player

All workshops meet at the Midland Center in downtown Midland. Fee for each workshop is $35, which includes a Weekend Festival Pass. To register or obtain a complete list of workshops, visit www.midland.edu (click on "For the Community" tab) or call (432) 685-4518.

World-renowned Egyptian archaeologist Dr. Zahi Hawass directs ongoing excavations at Giza, Saqqara and in the Valley of the Kings.

He is responsible for many recent discoveries, including the tombs of the pyramid builders at Giza and the Valley of the Golden Mummies at Bahariya. At Giza, he also uncovered the satellite pyramid of Khufu.

In 2005, Hawass led a team that CT scanned the mummy of King Tutankhamun. His team is continuing to CT scan mummies, both royal and private, and hopes to solve some of the mysteries surrounding the lives and deaths of such important figures as Hatshepsut and Nefertiti.

Hawass has also supervised a major conservation project on the Great Sphinx and developed site management plans for a number of important sites, including the unfinished obelisk quarry in Aswan and the temples of Kom Ombo, Edfu and Dendera. He currently is completing site management plans for the West Bank of Luxor, Giza and Saqqara.

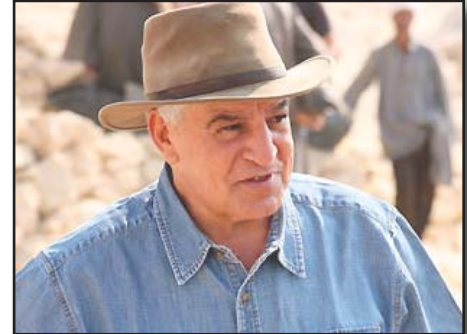

Hawass has brought the world of the pharaohs into the homes and hearts of people around the world through numerous television appearances and books. Among Hawass' many books on ancient Egypt are Silent Images: Women in Pharaonic Egypt, Hidden Treasures of Ancient Egypt, Secrets From the Sand, and Mountains of Stones: History of the Pyramid Builders. His book about his excavations in Bahariya, The Valley of the Golden Mummies, is a best seller.

Barrage

A high-octane and eclectic mix of music, song and dance

Thursday, October 20, 2011, 7:00 p.m.
Al G. Langford Chaparral Center

A high-octane fiddle-fest that features an international, multi-talented cast performing an eclectic mix of music, song and dance will be the featured performance of the fall 2011 Phyllis & Bob Cowan Performing Arts Series.

Barrage has entertained millions of people around the globe. Fans in Europe, Asia and North America have enjoyed Barrage at international festivals, concert performances, special events and TV appearances. Barrage performances offer a diverse fusion of cultures, musical styles and incredible performance vitality. The music of Barrage continues to evolve - combining contemporary world music influences, layered vocal arrangements and pulsating modern beats and rhythms. The young hip cast delivers the show with amazing energy and musical virtuosity that will take your breath away.

Since its creation in Calgary, Canada, Barrage has been featured many times at events worldwide having played for many presidents, prime ministers and princes. Barrage has also had television productions aired on several international TV networks, including the PBS network in the USA, the BBC in the UK and CBC in Canada, and has performed live shows in New Zealand, Singapore, Taiwan, China, Canada, Finland, Sweden, Ireland, Denmark, Poland, Germany, Norway, Monaco, the United States and the United Kingdom.

In memory of...

Nancy Hellinghausen Brown

From January 2007 through August 2010, the infectious laugh, warm smile, joy and passion of Nancy Hellinghausen Brown, MC's Public Relations Director, radiated throughout the MC campus. On Thursday, March 31, 2011, the newly married Mrs. Brown lost her courageous battle with cancer.

Nancy transparently poured her heart into the stories of each student and MC employee she promoted, reveling in their success and accomplishments. Included within her work for the college was Nancy's excitement for the arts, especially Midland College's Studio 3600 Series, the Davidson Distinguished Lecture Series and the Phyllis & Bob Cowan Performing Arts Series.

Nancy Hellinghausen Brown will be remembered as a radiant spirit, an inspiration, a beautiful part of Midland College's legacy.

Ruth W. Bartha was the daughter of pioneer physician, Dr. Benjamin Woodson and his wife, Lillie. The family tradition of becoming a physician was later passed on to her son, Dr. Gregory W. Bartha, a well-respected member of the Midland medical community and a Midland College Foundation board member.

Ruth loved flowers and gardening, was an excellent homemaker and had many close friends. She had a glorious smile and an unflinching positive attitude. Mrs. Bartha was a member of First Presbyterian Church, Midland Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, Midland Garden Club, American Association of University Women and the Midland Historical Society.

Retired MC Professor donates to art series

Warren Taylor

MC's Studio 3600 Art Series has received a donation from long-time MC Art Professor Warren Taylor. Mr. Taylor retired in May; however, before he retired he sold some of his smaller watercolors and oils that were done in his MC studio and during class demonstrations. A portion of the proceeds from the sale were donated to help with costs associated with MC's Studio 3600 series.

Twice each year, the Studio 3600 Series features works of MC art faculty, current students and former students. The Series exhibits are displayed in McCormick Gallery located in the Allison Fine Arts Building on the MC campus. Gallery Director J. Don Wallace states, "We are so appreciative of Mr. Taylor's gift. This will enable us to maintain exhibit facilities and publicize the exhibits in order to showcase our faculty and students."

The next Studio 3600 Series exhibit will feature the photography of former MC student Andrew (Andy) Hancock. Mr. Hancock is a multifaceted photographer currently based out of Indiana. By locating in the midwest, he is able to frequently travel on assignment from coast to coast both quickly and with ease. His extensive portfolio includes sports, commercial, nature and portraiture photography, some of which were taken on assignment for the New York Times and Sports Illustrated. One of his latest projects is a photo documentary about life in the oilfield.

The Studio 3600 opening reception, "Art and Sandwiches at High Noon," will be held on Thursday, September 8, at 11:30 a.m.

MC partners with Sul Ross State University to serve West Texans

Dr. Mary Braselton (left), Director of MC's Associate of Arts in Teaching (AAT) program, advises MC AAT graduate Micki Tabb (pictured on right). Students, like Micki, who graduate from MC's Associate of Arts in Teaching program will be able to stay on the MC campus and take upper-level education classes from SRSU. Tabb was the 2010-2011 President of MC's Education Society and will continue her studies seeking a degree in education and biology. She hopes to teach biology at the secondary level.

In late September 2010, Sul Ross State University (SRSU) received notification that the first year of a $3.87 million U.S. Department of Education grant application for Hispanic Institutions Transfer Access Project (HITAP) - in cooperation with Midland College - had been funded. The cooperative agreement is MC's fourth cooperative grant partnership with SRSU and will offer degrees in education, kinesiology and criminal justice. Education classes are the first ones available, according to Odell Missildine, SRSU Grant Transfer Specialist, whose office is on the MC campus. Kinesiology and criminal justice will be added later.

As part of HITAP, 63 Sul Ross courses are being converted to distance education delivery. Some courses will be offered via interactive television and others via the Internet. The cooperative project is designed to allow MC students the opportunity to earn a bachelor's degree from Sul Ross without leaving Midland.

"All expenses, including maintenance of equipment and travel, are covered by the grant," explains Jesse Kelsch, HITAP Activity Director. "Offering a four-year degree this way benefits students who cannot uproot their families and move to Alpine."

Since 2002, more than 40 Midland-based students have graduated from Sul Ross State University under the Midland College-Sul Ross Science Initiative. The Science Initiative, which is still in operation, offers four-year degrees in biology, geology and mathematics. Students take all of their classes on the Midland College campus via distance learning. "We hope that by providing the opportunity for students to stay at MC and finish a four-year degree they are able to complete more hours with us," states MC Vice President of Instruction Dr. Rex Peebles. "This makes degree completion a reality for our students who cannot leave Midland due to family and job responsibilities."

Midland College and Sul Ross, more than 160 miles apart, have a combined adjacent service area of 20 counties and more than 47,000 square miles, larger than the state of New York. Both institutions serve high numbers of Hispanic (47 percent at Sul Ross, 34 percent at Midland College) and low-income (53 percent at Sul Ross, 44 percent at Midland College) students, according to information in The Winkler Post in October, 2010.

Concho Resources wins Bruno Hanson Environmental Excellence Award

The late Bruno Hanson had a deep respect for God’s natural environment. He was involved in the discovery or extension of more than 20 oil and gas fields. In 1986, Hanson’s peers elected him President of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists (AAPG), and in 1992, he was instrumental in the formation of the AAPG’s Division of Environmental Geosciences. To commemorate and honor Mr. Hanson’s dedication to the environment, the Bruno Hanson/Midland College Environmental Excellence Award is presented annually to a Permian Basin oil and gas operator that has demonstrated exemplary environmental stewardship.

On Monday, March 28, during the Midland Reporter-Telegram’s Hearst Energy Awards Reception, the 2011 Bruno Hanson/Midland College Environmental Excellence Award was presented to Concho Resources for their work in reporting spills, cleaning up spills and working with the Bureau of Land Management Carlsbad Field Office (BLM CFO) to develop and test new spill response procedures to be implemented region-wide on BLM lands.

In January 2010, the BLM CFO began what would become a major internal and external overhaul of spill reporting, spill response and spill cleanup program. After the Gulf Oil Spill in the spring of 2010, such spill program revisions soon became a subject of agency-wide revision emphasis. Since the BLM CFO is one of the busiest BLM offices in the nation, it is extremely difficult to develop a new program and to carry on business as usual at the same time. As the BLM CFO attempted to push out new spill program protocols to industry, there was a great deal of “push-back” from all companies except one - Concho.

It has taken a great deal of time, effort and patience on Concho’s part to engage in this cooperative partnership during the new spill program development. More importantly, Concho’s cooperative participation in the field testing of the components and processes of the new spill program has led to the development of a better program for the BLM, for industry and for the environment.

Will Green, long-time MC Board Trustee, was presented with the Lifetime Achievement Award at the March 28 Midland Reporter-Telegram’s Hearst Energy Awards reception. The award was presented to Mr. Green for his achievements not only with Shell Oil and as an independent consultant, but also for his support of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists (AAPG). Green has held various positions with AAPG, including AAPG President in 2007-2008. He also has served as president of the West Texas Geological Society and of the Permian Basin Section of the Society of Sedimentary Geologists.

Spring Fever at MC . . .

The days got longer, the weather got warmer and spring fever was in the air at Midland College! Spring 2011 at MC featured everything from rock 'n roll dancing in the joint MC/Midland Community Theatre production of HAIR-SPRAY to the classical ballet movements of the Russian National Ballet Theatre during the spring's featured presentation of the Phyllis & Bob Cowan Performing Arts Series.

Westminster Abbey may have held the royal wedding of Prince William and Kate Middleton, but the Al G. Langford Chaparral Center hosted another English celebrity on March 24 as Celia Sandys, granddaughter of Winston Churchill, entertained Midlanders as the guest lecturer for the Davidson Distinguished Lecture Series. Other notable MC spring events included a golf scramble to benefit scholarships for MC technical programs; a musical weekend featuring Dr. William Westney, Texas Tech University's Paul Whitfield Horn Distinguished Professor of Piano; the Hilda Simmons Levitt Poetry contest with special guest Carol Schwartz, Mrs. Levitt's daughter, in attendance; and the annual Midland Legacy Scholarship essay awards luncheon.

Of course, spring wouldn't be complete without MC having another winning basketball season! The Midland College Chaparral basketball team continued their reign as one of the elite programs in all of junior college basketball and finished the season as national runner-up for the second time in the last three years!

Estate planning makes a great difference in the amount of money you pass on to loved ones and other beneficiaries, such as Midland College. Each year, friends of the college create legacies for themselves and their families through bequests to the Midland College Foundation. With careful planning, charitable deductions can create tax savings for the family estate. Tax-deductible donations can be made in the form of cash, stocks, real estate, excess retirement funds, life insurance, and other assets. As others have done, the Midland College Foundation may be named as a beneficiary in your will. To discuss your preferences, feel free to call Eileen Piwetz, Executive Director of the Midland College Foundation, at (432) 685-4526.

Below: Westney concluded the two-day event with a Saturday morning lecture entitled "Juicy Mistakes: How to Invite Breakthroughs in Learning, Life and Art." The entire weekend was made possible by an anonymous gift.

Hilda Simmons Levitt 23rd Annual Poetry Contest, April 28

Between 1952 and 1986, Hilda Simmons Levitt lived in Midland and took creative writing courses at Midland College. In 1988, her husband Stanley Levitt established the poetry contest in Mrs. Levitt's memory. After Mr. Levitt died in 1994, the Levitts' children, Carol Levitt Schwartz, of Washington, DC, and John Simmons Levitt, now deceased, pledged to continue to support the contest. Mrs. Schwartz was the honored guest at this year's event, which featured a poetry reading of original works by contest judge John Poch.

Many Midland College students receive the Midland Legacy Scholarship, sponsored by the Abell-Hanger Foundation, the Helen Greathouse Charitable Trust and the Chaparral Foundation. In return for the scholarship that pays their tuition and fees, students contribute 40 hours of community service. Each semester, the Abell-Hanger Foundation sponsors an essay contest to honor students' community service and to let the students tell their stories of how community service has enriched their lives. Five of those students receive additional $500 scholarships for essays written about that community service. The five winning writers are honored at a luncheon.

Ann and Lloyd Ugland Memorial Scholarship

Dr. David Ugland of Charlotte, North Carolina, recently established an endowed scholarship in memory of his parents Ann and Lloyd Ugland. The scholarship will award $1,000 annually to an MC associate degree nursing student.

Ann and Lloyd Ugland lived in Midland for many years and raised their children - David and his two sisters, Joanne and Susan - in the community. Lloyd passed away in July 2007, and Ann passed away in April 2009. Dr. David Ugland is a graduate of The University of Texas at Austin and Baylor Medical School. He did his residency at Emory University in Atlanta and now has an ophthalmology practice in Charlotte.

Ugland states, “My parents were very proud of Midland College. In fact, it was the first college that I attended, and it is remarkable how it has grown. My sisters and I have all moved from Midland, but I wanted to keep our name in the community. This scholarship is a great way for us to show our appreciation to the Midland community. My wife is a nurse, and being a doctor, I have a strong affinity for the nursing profession. When my mother was ill, we were very impressed with the nursing care she received at Midland Memorial Hospital. Several of her nurses were graduates of Midland College.”

Midland College receives grant from RBC Wealth Management

Midland College (MC) has received a $2,500 grant from RBC Foundation-USA, to purchase new digital precision tools for both high school and college technical programs at the MC Advanced Technology Center (ATC).

The ATC provides an academic and occupational focus by training students in state-of-the-art industry practices. Further, the ATC responds to community, business, professional and regional needs by providing credit and continuing education courses. “We’re thrilled to receive this funding in order to help accomplish our mission of providing flexible education opportunities that combine traditional methods with effective and innovative hands-on teaching methods,” said Curt Pervier, MC Dean of Technical Studies. “The ATC exists due to partnerships with corporations like RBC Wealth Management that remain committed to our initiatives.”

ConocoPhillips awards $12,000 to F. Marie Hall SimLife Center at Midland College

ConocoPhillips recently awarded $12,000 to be used towards construction of the F. Marie Hall SimLife Center at Midland College. The planned medical simulation center will be a state-of-the-art educational facility that will provide students and healthcare professionals access to a unique environment capable of enriching the knowledge and skills necessary to provide superlative healthcare. It will include six exam rooms adjoining two debriefing conference rooms; two simulation training centers, each equipped with six labs; a simulated birthing room and neonatal unit; two emergency room training labs located near an ambulance bay; and an operating room. Learning will be facilitated through the use of static manikins, virtual reality simulators, and high-fidelity human patient simulators that can be programmed to provide realistic physiologic responses to a practitioner's actions.

Lea Keese, Director of the center states, "ConocoPhillips' gift is another testimony of the commitment to quality healthcare in West Texas. Students trained in the F. Marie Hall SimLife Center at Midland College will become those professionals who will administer healthcare to Permian Basin citizens."

Oncology Nursing Society awards scholarships

Each year, the West Texas Chapter of the Oncology Nursing Society (ONS) awards a scholarship to a Midland College associate degree nursing student. Juanita Allcorn received the scholarship in 2010, and the 2011 recipient is Laurie Montanez.

ONS, the largest professional oncology association in the world, is composed of over 37,000 registered nurses and other healthcare providers.

Midland College's associate degree nursing program is a two-year program that prepares graduates to take the National Council Licensure Examination for Registered Nurses (NCLEX-RN). This past year, 90 percent of MC's associate degree nursing graduates passed the licensure exam during their first attempt.

Permian Basin International Oil Show awards $30,000 for MC scholarships

On Thursday, March 3, Tony Fry, Executive Director of the Permian Basin International Oil Show, presented a check for $30,000 to MC President Dr. Steve Thomas. The funds will be used to award scholarships to students enrolled in MC's geology and energy technology programs.

Scholarship honors memory of MC "Birdman"

Thursday, February 17, marked MC's annual Homecoming celebration held during half-time of the men's basketball game versus New Mexico Military Institute. This year's festivities included a scholarship presentation in memory of one of MC's most ardent supporters and dearest fans, Severo Raul Enriquez, more fondly known as "Birdman." At MC basketball games this "Super Fan" used his trademark "bird call" as the opposing team shot free throws during a basketball game. MC Athletic Director Forrest Allen noted, "He was at his best when his famous bird call disrupted the concentration of any team that dared to compete against his beloved Chaparrals."

Shortly after Severo's death in September of 2010, a generous anonymous donor designated a scholarship in his memory. During the homecoming ceremony, Severo's parents, Olga and Severo Sr., honored their son's legacy by presenting the Severo Enriquez Scholarship to three Midland College students: Andre Chance, Joe-Daniel Granado and Jake Wallace.

MC Mobile Go Center

Midland College admissions and recruitment staff are not going to let the grass grow under their feet!

In 2008, Midland College received a $134,000 grant from the Texas Pioneer Foundation for the purchase of a Mobile Go Center (MGC), a 42-foot gooseneck trailer and Ford F-350 pick-up that allows college representatives to take MC to the people of the Permian Basin. In May of 2011, the Texas Pioneer Foundation awarded MC an additional $17,000 to upgrade MGC technology.

The "Go Center's" technology includes 17 laptop computers with satellite Internet connectivity. Dr. Ryan Gibbs, MC Director of Admissions, says "Even though the MGC is only 3 years old, the technology already was becoming outdated. The additional funds will allow us to improve reliability and Internet connection."

Gibbs says that over the past three years, the MGC has traveled to schools, churches and community events to assist West Texans with online completion of college applications and financial aid applications. The MGC also has partnered with the MC Business & Economic Development Center and Liberty Tax Service for credit report and federal income tax assistance.

In addition, the MGC is made available to area schools for aptitude and career inventory testing. "It's a great way to get young people interested in higher education and thinking about career opportunities," explains Gibbs. "The MGC is used not only as a recruitment tool for Midland College, but also as an advocate for the pursuit of higher education in general."

Giving Hearts - Doctor's Day 2011

Every February, members of the Midland Medical Alliance stuff over 5,000 envelopes asking Midlanders to give a "Valentine" to their doctors - a contribution in honor of a doctor for scholarships in any of MC's six health sciences programs. Each envelope is stamped with a heart, and because of the giving hearts of the Midland community, $18,685 was raised in 2011 during the Doctor's Day campaign. Total funds contributed to Doctor's Day scholarships since its inception in 2001 is $136,888!

IRA Charitable Rollover

The Pension Protection Act of 2006 permits individuals to roll over up to $100,000 from an individual retirement account (IRA) directly to a qualifying charity without recognizing the assets transferred to the qualifying charity as income. This provision has now been extended until December 31, 2011. The principal rules for direct transfers from an IRA to the Midland College Foundation are that the IRA owner must be 70½ years or older and that the transfer is for no more than $100,000 each year.

The transfer must be made directly from an IRA trustee to the Foundation. For more information, call Dr. Eileen Piwetz, Executive Director of the Midland College Foundation, at (432) 685-4526.
